

7 Things Riders Can Do in the Winter

Most riders have winterized their bikes and put them away in storage by now for the Winter months.

Are you wondering what you are going to do with yourself until the day you can take that bike out of storage again and hit the open road?

We have come up with 7 things you can do to help pass the time while your bike is stored safely during the Winter months.

Clean your bike.

Winter is a great time to clean your bike and give it a little TLC for the next riding season. Not only is cleaning your bike an important and essential part of maintenance, it will also keep you engaged and focused on riding.

Upgrade your riding gear.

Treat yourself to some new riding equipment now that the holidays have passed. Do some research and pick out your new riding gear before it is time to get back out on the roads.

Now is a great time to research what is new in riding gear and safety accessories.

Make bike improvements.

Is there something you have been meaning to upgrade on your motorcycle, but just haven't had the time to do so? Now is a great time to tackle this project!

Use the long winter months to address those more laborious projects you have been meaning to do.

Join an online motorcycle community.

This is a great way to discuss motorcycle rides and tips with other enthusiasts while you are waiting for riding season to begin. There are several motorcycle Facebook groups if you are a Facebook user.

Pick out a new motorcycle.

If you have been thinking about making a change and are looking at getting a new bike, now is a great time to do your research and see what is out on the market. We have some tips we will share next month about how to choose the right motorcycle for you!

Winter is a great time to check out new models so that you can be ready to go in the Spring.

Get in shape.

It may seem silly, but riding a motorcycle does require you to be physically fit and prepared for those long rides... use this time to get fit for riding.

Sign up for a newsletter.

This is another great way to stay connected to what is going on in the riding community. It will also help you stay up to date on events and news pertaining to the riding community.

We hope that these tips help you through the long Winter months and help you stay connected to the riding community at large. Black Thursday is January 21st at the Capitol in Olympia

Black Thursday is a yearly event in January where motorcycle enthusiasts across Washington state ride to Olympia and meet with legislators to discuss motorcycle riding issues.

This event is a time for the motorcycle community to come together and protect the right to ride and fight for common ground motorcycling issues. This event was originally organized by ABATE of Washington, which is a non-profit organization whose main purpose is upholding citizen's Rights as they apply to Motorcyclists.

Black Thursday is a day where riders unite at the Washington State Capitol in Olympia to speak directly to our elected politicians regarding legislative issues pertaining to motorcyclists.

For more detailed information about Black Thursday, please visit the ABATE of Washington website at www.abate-wa.org.
